Passing of a Pioneer.

One by one the lion-hearted men of the pioneers who wrested this fair land from the nomadic savage tribes that roamed over it and contested with the torch and scalping knife the advance of civilization—are joining that silent majority beyond that veil from whence no traveler has ever returned. Oltman Frederick Neuman, the subject of this sketch, was one of our early pioneers in this section, and suffered many hardships in his incident to frontier life. Born August 29, 1835, at Aurich Est Frisland, Kingdom of Hanover, he came to America and to this county in 1852 and settled at Quithi where he had conveniently made his home up to the time of his death, which occurred at his home at 4:00 o'clock Wednesday morning. Deedent had been in failing health.

incident to his advanced age, for some time and his death was not unexpected. In fact for the past several weeks his relatives and friends realized that the inevitable could not much longer be delayed. He had reached the ripe age of 80 years and 7 months to the day.

Mr. Neuman was married in 1867 to Miss Anna Hockman, and to this union nine children were born, three of whom preceded him to the grave. He is survived by his aged consort, Mrs. Anna Neuman, and to this wife nine children were born, three of whom preceded him to the grave.

He was laid to rest in the church yard at Quithi Wednesday evening, a large number of people being present to pay a last tribute of respect to this

The First to Combine Bridled Force and Serupulous Thrift—3400 r. p. m. Chalmers Performance blent brilliantly with price puts the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers at $1050 in a position that cannot be challenged.

This is the model of which 600 merchants bought $22,000,000 worth in 40 minutes on the day of its unveiling in Detroit.

It wedged itself into the cluttered market in a manner that I have never seen approached.

The energy of this 3400 r. p. m. engine delivers 60 miles an hour—all the speed you dare use—without exacting a burnt-offering of wasteful fuel consumption.

Chalmers Service does not begin when a car pauses in front of the service station that bears the Chalmers Monogram. The principles of Chalmers Service dominated the designing and building of the 3400 r. p. m. from the moment the dream of it began glimmering in the brains of its engineers.

Despite the return of prosperity to the South, I don't ask you to buy a car that delivers might at staggering C. O. D. rates.

By making every gallon of gas kick in with 18 miles of the smoothest going, it makes might wed mileage.

And the by-product of this extraordinary union is a magnificent acceleration that is wholly foreign to the car that is built for speed alone.

The surpassing smoothness of this throbless engine that whirls at a velocity of 3400 revolutions per minute is not an engineering accident.

This result was striven for by its builders, who knew that the more explosions per minute, and the greater the number of revolutions of the motor, the lesser amount of heat is lost through the cooling jacket.

Heat is power. The small engine of this car leaves a small area from which heat can be thrown away by radiation, there is a very short cooling process between explosions of gas, and you have a power plant that wrings every ounce of energy from its fuel.

That is why this is the car that performs.

One minute with your foot on the accelerator, and you'll know what I mean.

One performance—and 3400 will no longer be a mere number to you. It will become the magic password into an unknown, undreamed-of realm of travel.

With raw materials growing less plentiful, it is good foresight to register your order now if you can.

PREPAREDNESS A QUESTION OF NECESSITY

NATIONS OF WESTERN HEMISPHERE SHOULD ORGANIZE.

Revenue From Income and Inheritance Tax Should Be Utilized for Defense.

By J. S. Cullinan.
Chairman Texas Economic League

The three important subjects which the Texas Economic League has listed for first consideration are Citizenship, Administration of Justice and Preparedness. Probably the most important of these is Preparedness. Government is a triangle and Preparedness, Administration of Justice and Citizenship are the component parts with Preparedness as the base. Unless we prepare there will be no Citizenship, no Justice, no government.

Our government is now passing through a supreme test of efficiency, and it is for the citizen to say what he expects of government. In my opinion, government should do something more than collect taxes and issue warnings. It is the duty of government to protect its citizens on land and sea, and our government has no more right to refuse to do so than a citizen has a right to refuse to pay taxes. It is not a question of option—it is one of necessity, but no nation can protect its citizens unless it has the means.

The President is correct in his policy of preparedness and protection, and no thoughtful citizen can afford to invite national peril through inefficiency. When our government permits liberty and freedom of its citizens to go by default, it has violated its pledge to the people, as much as if it took liberty and freedom from them by force. There can be no government without force. A court without a sheriff is nothing more than a debating society, and a modern government without an army or navy is no government at all. It is a helpless tribe of people.

Real men are animals—not angels. They always have and they always will fight. The causes of war will never be removed until the human race is removed. Human nature cannot be dismissed from mankind, for in every infant it will be born again. Many psychological causes have been advanced for wars. There is an old Irish tradition that following a dancing craze the world will either pray or fight. The League is not at the moment concerned in the psychological causes of war, as stern realities demand first attention, for the liberties and rights of a citizen guaranteed by the Constitution have been denied our people.

Nation's Duty to Protect Citizens. Government is organized physical force, and without force there is no government. No man can peaceably possess a thing of value unless in some manner he can defend his title by force. Our government denies the citizen the right to use force, and in disarming the individual enters into a contract to protect the rights of a citizen by force, and, if necessary, to kill and destroy persons or nations that interfere with the rights of its citizens. It has no option in the matter. It is its first obligation.

This nation is facing a world crisis, and world opportunities. The destinies of the human race are at the moment more nearly in the hands of the American people than any other earthly power, and our government should adopt a policy in dealing with the forces of civilization that will establish permanent world peace. So far as this continent is concerned, in my judgment, the twenty-one Republics should be organized for: First, peace and protection. Second, each Republic should assign not exceeding one per cent of its population to army and navy duties. Third, that at least sixty per cent of the male population of each such Republic should be trained to military discipline and duty; such training period not to exceed two years, to be held thereafter as reserves in case required for the defense of their country or the defense of the continent.

It would further seem highly desirable that applied to the United States a declaration of principles such, for instance, as the Monroe Doctrine, from which no State should be permitted to depart after such have been voted on and approved by a majority of our people.

The President's plans, as I understand them, call for an investment of $500,000,000 over a period of five years. I do not think that is sufficient. It seems to me we should shape plans for a continuing expenditure, if need be, of $5,000,000,000 for such period, and by co-operating with the other twenty American Republics, and possibly Canada, adopt a policy of matching dollars with the balance of the world for the purpose of defense, and protecting liberty, life and property, at much less cost than undertaking to defend the nation against one of the modern powers as now organized.

Congress, in my judgment, should issue Bonds and use the revenue from the income and an inheritance tax only for the purpose of retiring these Bonds. I would further favor universal military training for our young men, adequate provision for our first line of defense, the Navy, substantially increasing our Army, and providing coast defense.

BIG MONEY MADE BY FARMERS

Larger Returns Obtained in Agriculture Than in Any Other Division of Human Activity.

It is susceptible of proof that agriculture yields larger returns on the capital employed and the energy expended than any other great division of human activity.

It is self-evident that the individuality of the farmer is less hampered than that of the clerk who is one of a large office force or the workman who is but one cog in the human machinery of some great industrial plant.

It is clear that in most cases the blame for unprofitable farming lies at the doors of the farmers themselves. It is seldom that a farmer employs the care and intelligence of the manufacturer, or even of the small merchant, in figuring costs, in spending less in buying for quality rather than quantity, and in keeping well informed regarding modern business methods.

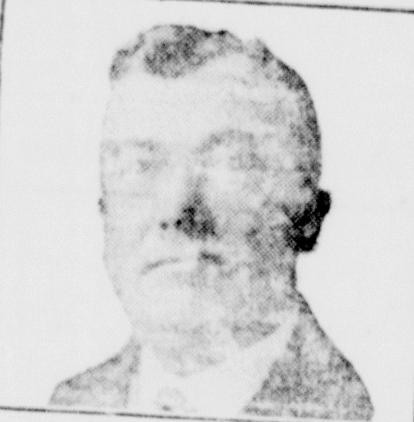

Unquestioned for making money—less hampered than in business. Wonderful savings—uniform results. Mother says Calumet is the most economical to buy—most economical to use. Try it.

Lawyers Are Public Servants

Editor's Note.—The following is the third of a series of articles by J. J. Cullinan, chairman of the Texas Economic League, on the Administration of Justice, to which subject the League is now addressing itself.

By J. J. Cullinan.

There may be those who regard the Administration of Justice as a matter entirely in the hands of office-holders, and not one that concerns a citizen and that our system of government will hold secure the liberties of the people regardless of the conduct of the citizen. To those who may feel that there is safety in indifference, and who place blind confidence in our system and our servants of government, I want to quote a paragraph from a statement recently made by Hon. Thos. R. Marshall, Vice President of the United States, as follows:

"Equitable enforcement of the law can never be made to rest upon the office-holders of the land. It must rest upon the individual. It cannot be said that it is the system of government which is wrong. It is the unjust use of the system. It has not been the use, but the misuse of the powers of government which has produced this discontent in the minds of men."

In a previous article I have suggested that it was the legal profession which was making the Temple of Justice tremble, and stressed the importance of higher legal ethics as a source of relief. But the perils of "idealism" neither begin nor end with unscrupulous conduct on the part of unworthy members of the bar. We have become so legalized that business efficiency is largely determined by law, and property rights has become a legislative prerogative. The subordination of business honor to legal ethics has not improved the morals of industry, and it has resulted in waste, incompetency and instability. The Constitution guarantees rights to persons and property, and government was established to secure those rights, and nowhere in our Constitution is a citizen required to get from government a permit for liberty or a franchise for freedom. They are divine rights.

The citizens are the joint stockholders and owners in government, and it is for them to define the rights of persons and of property. This government is ours—yours and mine—and we have no right to turn it over to legal counsel or to farm it out to office-holders. If we are not willing to discharge our responsibilities as sovereigns, then we should change our system of government and employ a King to run the country.

A Remedy Suggested

Having engaged in these criticisms it is incumbent upon me to suggest a remedy. The business interests have, during the past quarter of a century felt the influence of two powerful forces—Regulation and Publicity. While both these agencies have been misused, they have made good, and I do not believe there are many honest men in business who would withdraw them. Their worth having been proved, I would apply them to the legal profession as lawyers are public servants, and have as much of a monopoly on law as our transportation systems have upon traffic.

Considering the public or semi-public nature of the duties of the legal profession, there would seem to be no further reason why its affairs should not be open to scrutiny quite as much as applies to corporate business where the National or State Governments very properly fix or reserve the right to investigate, such corporate business.

Let the Sunshine In

The lawyer has been quite active in regulating business, and is no doubt more capable of working out the details of regulating his profession than a layman, but my first impression is that all lawyers should be required to keep permanent record of all their transactions, and report annually to some department of State the name of all clients, compensation received, from such clients, and the character of service rendered in court or out, and the place where rendered, and that the public and the press be given access to these records.

This nation must depend upon just men for justice, and no man associated with the Administration of Justice should fail to endow his conduct with the influences of publicity, and no lawyer can afford to dismiss an opportunity of presenting to his fellow citizens evidence of righteous stewardship of his client's welfare, or fail to challenge as occasion of winning the confidence and esteem of the people by making public and permanent records of convincing evidence of his professional honesty and integrity. The books of almost all business concerns are open to inspection of proper officials and why not let the sunshine in on the records of the legal profession?

The regulation of the lawyers is suggested as first aid to Justice and not as a complete remedy for injustice.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and uphold your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief.

Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Should Not Feel Discouraged.

So many people troubled with indigestion and constipation have been benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets that no one should feel discouraged who has not given them a trial. They contain no pepsin or other digestive ferment but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions. Obtainable everywhere.

Don't value your work by the time you spent on it, but by how you have spent the time.

To have a fine healthy complexion the liver must be active, the bowels regular and the blood pure. All this is brought about by using Herbine. It thoroughly scours the liver, stomach and bowels, puts the body in fine condition and restores that clear, pink and white complexion so much desired by ladies. Price 50c. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

How often does Hope nourish when she knows she ought to write.

Bad breath, bitter taste, dizziness and a general "no account" feeling is a sure sign of a torpid liver. Herbine is the medicine need. It makes the liver active, vitalizes the blood, regulates the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy and cheerfulness. Price 50c. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Beefsteak Chowder.

Cut slice of salt pork into small lots, with one onion minced fine; cook until a nice brown; add one quart of boiling water, let simmer five minutes, then add one pound round steak cut into strips one-half-inch thick and two inches long; bring this quickly to a boil, then simmer until the meat is tender, add four or five pared and sliced potatoes, season with salt and pepper, add more boiling water and when potatoes are tender add one and one-half cupfuls of good rich milk or cream; split six or eight crackers, put them in soup dish and pour chowder over them, serving at once.

To Starch Fine Lingerie.

Many housewives experience great difficulty in laundering fine lingerie, such as dainty waists, jabots, collars, and so forth. The chief difficulty seems to lie in giving them just the proper degree of crispness. Rinsing them in a solution of borax gives this right degree of stiffness and renders them just the right texture. Two heaping tablespoons of borax to five quarts of water is a good proportion. This is also excellent for thin dresses trimmed with lace.

Corn With Cheese.

Cut cold boiled corn from the cob, put in double boiler with milk enough to cover. When hot add cheese to suit your taste cut in thin bits, pepper and salt. Keep hot till cheese melts, but do not boil. Nice for supper.

A Healing Salve for Burns, Chapped Hands and Sore Nipples.

A man may be respected for the enemies he makes but is never envied.

For Constipation.

Mr. L. H. Farnham, a prominent druggist of Spirit Lake, Iowa, says: "Chamberlain's Tablets are certainly the best thing on the market for constipation." Give these tablets a trial. You are certain to find them agreeable and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. For sale by All Dealers.

Crop Conditions.

CROPS AND WEATHER IN CASS COUNTY

The crop prospect in this country is not as bright as it was ten days ago; the continued drought has almost ruined the small oat crop, and has hindered the corn planting. The farmers are well up with their work; in fact, they do not do much more until they rain. There will be a large acreage of sweet potatoes and uts planted in this county. An acreage of corn has been, more will be, planted.

weather has been extremely. On the 14th it changed from very warm to quite cool. It resulted in two light rain, but no material damage to fruit or crops of any kind. The weather is now closed warm and sport closes March 18.

Y., you have no 1 for years. This medicine in a wonderful manner. I taken any medicine so helpful sick time. I do wish anyone would give it a trial.”

(Signed) G. H. HERR.

and other forage crops kept at normal. Weather dry; no rain for six weeks.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS

The drought throughout Medina, Uvalde and contiguous counties remains unbroken at this date (March 18) and a great many fields of oats are lost. Corn on well prepared land is holding out well but will soon suffer. Farms are well prepared and the only thing delaying work or crop development is the lack of moisture.

GONZALEZ COUNTY

Oats are a failure. Of cultivated land it appears that not more than 35 per cent will be planted to corn; the rest to cotton. Most corn is up, and cotton is being planted. County is suffering from drought; farmers out of feed and buying all they use. No gardens are possible.

HARRIS, BRAZORIA, COLORADO,

WALLER AND LAVACA

Around Waller and Hempstead nearly all of the corn crop has been planted and much of it is up and looking well. Along the Aransas Pass railroad to Hallettsville much corn has been planted, and in the Wallis and Simonton sections some cotton is up and looking well. Wherever the farmers plowed early—before Christmas—there is no complaint of want of moisture. At Sublime, Lavaca county, truck crops, especially radishes, are doing well. Without rain there is no complaint of lack of moisture.

The cotton acreage throughout this entire section will be kept down to the limit of last year, substituting cow-peas, peanuts, Sudan grass, melons and cucumbers for cotton. Rain, though not badly wanted, would help things. The Houston market is receiving an abundance of fresh vegetables from the surrounding country. Fine strawberries are coming in.

JOHNSON, DALLAS AND TARRANT

From Cleburne to Fort Worth, via the Santa Fe, less than one-half of the land was plowed in the fall, about one-fourth is still unplowed and the balance is in a very poor condition of preparation on account of the drought. Grain looks poor—very poor—with possibly three-fourths of the fall oats killed and spring oats suffering for rain. The grain crops in Dallas county are in about the same condition. Much of the ground planted to corn was plowed too soon after the January rains, and what was planted now promise poor stands without rain. Land that was well prepared in the early fall is by far in the better condition.

THE SITUATION

past week by our field force but emphasize suggestions made in last week's News Letter, as to what the farmers should do in the event of continued dry weather. In the southern section of the State there is time yet for the next ten days to plant on land as well prepared for it as good rains will give, but in the western sections, the north and northwestern, it will be too late a week hence to speculate on corn crops even if a rain comes. The recourse those sections should have, and prepare for, is the sowing of all available soil to the feed crops, the grain sorghums, peanuts and the like. The inclination will be to turn to cotton, but that cannot be done without bringing greater calamity than though the ground was left unsown for the next year. This is a condition that presses for attention on the farmers.

The Meat Problem.

The price of meats that we consume on our tables has gone up by leaps and bounds in the last few years. All who have given the meat supply question careful study, assure us that in all probability the price of meats will never be cheaper than at present. This is a suggestive hint to all farmers as to the future profitable lines of farm operations. Hogs and goats afford the greatest opportunity to the small farmer to raise meat for the market. For the want of capital or land all can not engage in cattle raising or feeding but a large majority of farmers can keep a few hogs with profit. It requires but small capital to start. In fact it will require practically no money if the farmer is willing to wait for the natural increase from a very small beginning. This was the experience of W. T. Lindley, Abilene, Texas. In 1914 he had one sow that he pastured on alfalfa. In this dry section the alfalfa amounted to nothing more than pasture for hogs. Her first litter numbered ten. One died. He fattened two for home use. Her second litter numbered eight and he fattened three for home use. In March, 1916, he had a herd of 60 including all ages and sizes. All were the natural increase of one sow in two years. By using what alfalfa pasture he had and other cheap feeds grown on his farm. Mr. Lindley estimates that his 60 hogs have not cost him over $50.00 in money. Mr. Lindley's experience can be duplicated and perhaps improved upon by any other farmer who becomes interested in hog raising. Sixty head would be a sufficient beginning for a considerable farm.

Tuff Farmers Organize.

Tuff, Tex., March 24.—Farmers of the Tuff community met at the school house last night and organized a farmers' institute and elected officers as follows: O. L. Adams, president; Bill McMahan, vice-president; Miss Bettie Brewer, secretary, and S. D. Moore, entomologist. Ron Fletcher Davis, field agent of the State Department of Agriculture, addressed the meeting and assisted in the organization. After the meeting at the schoolhouse those present went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Moore, where they were entertained with a musical.

Medina Farmers Organize.

Medina City, Tex., March 24.—Fletcher Davis, field agent of the State Department of Agriculture, lectured here twice yesterday. In the afternoon he spoke at the school and organized a Junior Farmers' Institute among the pupils and in the evening he spoke to the general public at the Christian Church and organized a Farmers' Institute. Officers elected at the evening meeting were: K. K. Stokes, president; J. F. Aiken, vice-president; Ed Patton, secretary and Oscar Lackey, entomologist.—San Antonio Express.

Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, therefore destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Name Your Farm!

OCCASIONALLY we get a letter from a farmer on stationery on which is printed his own name and the name of his farm. In some cases we find on the margin, briefly stated, what is being made a specialty of on that farm.

This looks like business, and demands attention at once, for it catches the eye.

The editor of your county paper always stands in need of a bushel of potatoes, a sack of water-ground meal, or some such farm product, and would be glad to swap you some nice printed envelopes and paper to match for these things.

It would pay you to do some trading with this man, who is doing a lot in his way to help you, so next time you are in town talk it over with him. Before giving the order talk it over with the wife and family, and decide on an appropriate, catchy name for your farm and then—live up to it.—President Charles S. Barrett in National Field.

Stomach Trouble Solved

Most stomach troubles are not disease. The stomach is simply weak. Tired out. The right kind of a tonic is what is needed. A few meals, well digested, will furnish natural strength. That is what a tonic will do for you. It will start the stomach going right. Then the stomach will take care of itself.

PE-RU-NA Good the Year 'Round

Always Ready-to-Take There is no use of writing a new prescription every time a remedy is needed for a weak stomach. No use whatever. The old, well-tried remedies, put up on prescription for such cases, are a great deal better than an off-hand prescription. Peruna is the remedy that people have relied upon for a great many years. It is ready to take, composed of pure drugs, of uniform strength and composition. Not an experiment. Peruna is a substantial, household remedy, with forty years of splendid history behind it. In buying Peruna you take no risk. You know what you are getting.

Rudolph Haby of Cliff happened to a very painful accident the middle of the week. It seems the young man and his brother each driving a team were returning from San Antonio. When within about five miles of home, Rudolph, who was in the lead, stopped his team, alighted and started to walk back to speak to his brother when his team started off. He managed to catch the lines which unfortunately broke and he fell and both wheels passed over his body. He was brought to town for medical attention and at this writing is getting along nicely. We join in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Save the Trees.

Editor Anvil Herald, Hondo, Texas:

The excellent and well-planned road work being done in the LaCoste-Castroville section, is interesting to the visitor, and shows the intelligent, progressive spirit of your citizenship as expressed through their public servants, the county commissioners. For good roads, well and permanently built by the most direct routes between farm and market or shipping-point, are the very best investment a community can make, aside from the schools. Good roads are common-sense expressed in everyday terms.

But the needless destruction of trees along these highways of travel is a serious mistake that I note in several sections of this state.

In most sections, however, the natural trees—the splendid oaks, elms, hickories, mesquites and pecans—along the roads are carefully preserved. For common-sense shows to anyone their actual, practical, dollars-and-cents value.

But it is distressing indeed to see the loss of fine old, healthy trees, that has occurred along the roads between the south part of Medina county and the dam.

Such wanton destruction of public property, such disregard for public comfort and the wishes of the people (for there is surely not one citizen but deplores and resents the destruction of these grand old landmarks) should meet with prompt rebuke and immediate prevention.

Some of these trees have taken five hundred years to grow, and in the half century or more of occupancy of this country by civilized people have sheltered and protected from blistering sun, or pelting rain or hail, hundreds of people, and in the busy populous future certain to come to this fertile section, these same trees would bless tens of thousands of people in future years. For many of these trees, already centuries old—as for instance the magnificent live oak in the middle of the road between LaCoste and the river, going east on the road to Castroville—would live for centuries more.

Yet the roots are being excavated in evident preparation to destroy this noble specimen of nature's work, which has lived only to bless humanity, and which, if left alone, and cherished by the removal and proper treatment afterwards of some of its injured branches, will be worth more to future generations (yes, even to this generation), than the temporary work that can be done on road-beds. For all other road-work can at best last only a few years. But this is a "rest station" that will still endure for centuries.

What is it, short of presumption, that prompts the destruction, by an authority—which exists comparatively for only a day, and only purposes of good service—to destroy a piece of public wealth, like this?

If one a public servant could supply or put in place a tree like this, in the center of a much traveled public road, he would be entitled to public gratitude, and if such a thing could be done at a thousand dollars expense it would be a good investment. But that the public, through its public servants, should destroy such public property, is inconceivable. If this, or any other community, could have a road with a wonderful tree like this every few hundred feet, in the center of the road, like this priceless tree, it would be famous the world over.

In nearly every place where trees are in the county roads they are carefully saved. In many of the more progressive parts of Southern California, as at Riverside, Redlands, Los Angeles, etc., a row of trees has been most carefully and at vast expense, planted and maintained in the center of the country roads. And as these get large they are the more treasured.

This single tree, centuries old, widespread, evergreen, and magnificent in its proportions, is actually worth thousands of dollars to this county.

Let any influence that would destroy it first pause and think on these things. Take the "wide out-look," and instead of destroying this priceless public blessing make it into a "rest station" by dividing the road-bed on each side of it, making there under its branches a little haven of refuge from storm and heat, a place to struggle with "tire troubles," tired horses or weary feet.

Add a bayleaf, half a dozen pepper corns, and a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Simmer 15 minutes, strain and serve with diced fried bread.

Dutch Soup.—Cook together a carrot and an onion in boiling salted water. Rub through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and add a teaspoonful of sugar. Add five cupfuls of beef stock, reheat and serve.

Split Pea Soup.—Soak over night four cupfuls of split peas in cold water to cover, adding a pinch of soda. Drain and add to eight cupfuls of beef stock. Add a head of celery, a sliced carrot and an onion chopped fine. Season with salt, pepper and curry powder. Strain through a coarse sieve into a tureen, rubbing the pulp through the sieve. Serve with croutons (diced fried bread).

Savory Rice Soup.—Add a cupful of cold boiled rice to four cupfuls of beef stock. Simmer until the rice is very soft, then rub through a fine sieve and return to the fire. Season to taste, thicken with the yolks of two eggs, beaten with half a cupful of cream.

Tomato Soup.—Cook two quarts of tomatoes with two onions, two carrots and a half cupful of chopped raw ham. Add two quarts of veal stock, strain, season and reheat. Thicken with one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, cooked together; blend with a little of the stock and add; bring to a boil, season with salt, butter, pepper and a bit of sugar; serve with croutons.

Veal stock thickened with a little cooked sago and enriched with beaten eggs makes a most delicious and nourishing soup.

ON TEXAS ECONOMIC LEAGUE

In assisting in the organization of the Texas Economic League, my motive was to help form an association that could voice the sentiment and promote the interests of those engaged in producing and distributing the products of the earth. Having belonged to this class all my life and having occupied various positions in business from laborer to manager and owner, I have come in personal contact with most of the hardships encountered by those engaged in productive pursuits and I feel that much of the suffering we undergo is preventable and that improved conditions can be easily brought about through a more active and intelligent citizenship. I have resided in Texas for eighteen years and during that time have been actively identified with many lines of business, and in direct touch with the industrial conditions of the state. It has been my aim to influence capital to Texas, to give employment to labor and to see Texas institutions spread over the globe.

I have faith in the people and in the future of the State and I want those who feel likewise and have a permanent interest in the State's welfare to join me in this work. The only qualification is that Citizenship, Federal, State and Community in the order named, be placed above class interest, and a more diligent study of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States be pursued.

The men engaged in productive pursuits should manage civilization. Much indifference and impatience of the producing classes in dealing with important public problems, leaving their solution to the non-producing classes, who should take orders from, and not give orders to, society. If business men, farmers, laborers and all factors in productive industry would discharge more fully the responsibilities of citizenship, many of the fundamental evils from which we suffer would automatically disappear, revealing a more capable and efficient commonwealth. I have resounded with in our system of government and believe that the serious difficulties which we encounter are due to incompetency and degeneracy of important branches of government and society over which the citizenship, as a whole, has neglected to exercise a proper supervision and has failed to demand a high order of efficiency and integrity.

We should look to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States for guidance and apply their principles to the problems of the day. As citizens we enter into a contract with government as the "party of the first part" and unless we perform the services agreed, we have no right to share the benefits of government and certainly no cause for complaint against organized society for evils which the performance of active citizens would easily correct. We want to invite the people of Texas to study and discuss citizenship, determining our rights and privileges under government with a view of enjoying more fully the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness set forth in the Declaration of Independence and guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

J. S. Cullinan

ON CITIZENSHIP.

The Texas Economic League invites the people of Texas into a discussion of citizenship, but before we can intelligently study so important a subject we must first define it. What is citizenship? Who is the best American citizen? Search the statute books for definition of citizenship and unless one is a member of the legal profession we immediately become entangled in a labyrinth of confusing and oftentimes contradictory laws seeking to promote or restrain most every form of human activity, much of them good, some of them bad and others indifferent. But laws come and go; the Constitution is permanent. The preamble of our Federal Constitution states that our government is organized to give its citizens happiness. Read the Declaration of Independence and the best American citizen is he who is most free, patriotic, just, happy and active and who hands down to posterity a civilization more capable than he found it. The spirit of our country is freedom and no man can become a true American citizen unless he is free.

Turning a moment from documents of State perhaps the best authority on citizenship, and one universally accepted by the public, is Webster's International Dictionary, which defines a citizen as "A member of a State, a person, naturalized, of either sex who owes allegiance to government and entitled to reciprocal protection from it." Further, "A citizen as such is entitled to the protection of life, liberty and property at home and abroad."

We now have before us the authoritative definition of citizenship by both government and society and in order that the most humble citizen may feel free to enter into a study and discussion of this subject, I will briefly state my conception of what citizenship involves, for the work of the Texas League will be in vain if the most lowly citizen does not feel free to express his thoughts and expression to his obligation to government and possibility to his fellow men.

As a citizen's duty, in return for the rights, privilege and protection above, would seem to be: First, to expend sufficient labor in producing auxiliary occupations, viz., manufacture, transportation and distribution to support himself and his family in comfort. Second, conform to the interest of society under the Constitution. Third, conform to the interest of taxes or, if need be, bearing arms in the defense of the hitting the above conclusions I have assumed that under our government citizens are owners in common and are entitled to the benefits of government during the term of their natural lives and not only.

ON GOVERNMENT BY SELFISHNESS.

Ever since the serpent left the Garden of Eden turned Hell loose on earth mankind has been ruled by emotions, good or evil—mostly evil. Trace the human race from the time history raises the curtain upon mankind to the present hour of extreme peril and we will find the frailties of human nature struggling for the mastery, and greed, properly restrained, the motive power that has moved civilization to its towering height and unrestrained, has hurled government to destruction and mankind to barbarism. Visit the cemeteries of civilization and we find written upon the time-stained monument of Egypt, pride; Macedonia, ambition; Persia, conceit; Rome, conquest; Greece, envy; and upon the tombstones newly-made grave of the past generation, selfishness, and in chiseling as our epitaph, organized selfishness.

This nation today is organized selfishness. The individual wed up in organization and the unit of government has shifted to class and in the transition we have lost many of the traits of the human race and developed many of the traits of the selfishness is leading civilization from divinity to the dens of beasts, claws and sections tear at each other with the ferocity seek to disembowel and disintegrate government that dares liberty. Self-restraint is being driven from society; honesty viewpoint and might a predominating factor in right. Patriotism more from commercial paralysis than at the present hour, was a time in the history of the human race when creature a higher premium or the ideals of human success more prominent, for organizations that are sprung around selfishness, call such emotions as are felt by animals that roam the forest suppresses the nobler qualities of human life. The squirrel's bountiful supply of nuts to its den is thrifty but it makes no society; the fox that outwits its neighbor has great ability never helped others; the lion whose roar makes the animal kingdom has great powers but has never used it to uplift civilization; the claws have fought desparate battles for supremacy but victory an animal and government should encourage and protect him in every emotion that moves the heart of a beast but when a dash to his soul, God Almighty expected something more of him than this. He ought to try to do something an animal can't do. A call him to nobler deeds. In society, place his fellowmen above and in government "citizenship first."

RED TOP

By KEITH KENYON

One of the bellhops nicknamed her that the first day she came on duty at the St. Dimitri switchboard. The bellhops and their captain looked her over cautiously. She was not a city girl. Andy, bravest of all, strolled over about nine, and leaned tentatively on the top of the desk with his most friendly smile.

"How does the scenery strike you, Red Top?" he asked.

"Not half as strongly as something will strike you if you call me Red Top again," she retorted calmly. "Just stroll along there, child. I'm not a bit lonely, and if I am I'll call my own numbers, thank you."

She tucked a couple of large shell pins into her side braids and looked past Andy's head absently.

The colonel expressed himself as delighted over her aloofness. Even to the colonel she was aloof, and he was owner of the St. Dimitri. She gazed past his handsome head quite as nonchalantly as she had past Andy's.

"Gad, sir," said the colonel happily, as he lingered over the after dinner cigar with the proprietor. "Gad, sir, I rather think she'll stay. Fine girl, Haswell, too good for the position. Beautiful hair. Perfect profile. Wonder she isn't mobbed but it's the manner that holds them off. She squeezes a man with one look. What's her name?"

"Ruth Hollister, sir."

"Hollister, Hollister? Massachusetts?" Used to be Senator Ben Hollister at Washington from Massachusetts when I was in the house. Fine chap. Gad, sir, I remember when that navy appropriation bill came up after the Japanese trouble—"

The colonel rambled off luxuriously, leaning far back in his deep leather chair and rocking one foot. But when his cigar burned out he sauntered down the long marble corridor to the telephone desk, and began with his very best Georgia manner.

"I beg pardon, I'm sure, Miss Hollister. I'm Colonel Congreve. I'm wondering if you could possibly be of the same family as my old friend, Senator Hollister of Massachusetts."

"I don't think so, Colonel Congreve," came back clearly, even crisply. "I am from out West, near Omaha. We have no senators in our family yet. We're just first settlers."

"Omaha? God bless my heart, murmured the colonel. "How did you ever get so far from home?"

"I was one of ten hundred thousand girls who imagine they can sing to grand opera in New York. I got tired living on hopes and air; so I learned this."

That night the colonel sat up on the roof garden, quite alone, long after the crowd had gone. Just why one girl's face should suddenly fill his world, he could not see. Yet all he had to do was to close his eyes and there rose before him the face of Ruth Hollister. Red Top, Haswell had said the boy called her. Glorious hair she had, rich in tone as a ripe chestnut. He wondered how he could help her. And the next day Haswell was told to promote Miss Hollister and Ezzell.

Rebekahs Entertain.

One of the most attractive entertainments of the season was given last Monday night by the Rebekahs, honoring Mr. Tom Saathoff, who is soon to move to Tarpley where he will be the leading merchant of that little "boung."

The hours from 8:30 to 10:30 were spent in the merry game of "42," after which delicious refreshments of sandwiches and grape juice punch were served.

Prizes were then awarded to Miss Grace Schuchart of Victoria, and Mr. Ralph Noonan first prizes, Mrs. Marvin Beal and Mr. Willingham the "Boobies."

The guests numbered sixty.

Mr. Saathoff will be greatly missed by the Hondoites, he having been one of the most popular young men of our little city.

The Rain.

Quite an electric storm passed over this section Thursday night, accompanied by a light rain. Quite a good rain, amounting to 1 1/4 inches, fell at D'Hanis, while further west the rain was heavier, with some hail at Uvalde. The precipitation at Yancey was about the same as here, while Devine failed to get any rain. While we have no reports from the hill country the fall must have been much heavier up there than here as it is reported quite a rise is coming down the Hondo. This is the first rain that has visited this section for more than two months, and while not enough to be of any practical benefit, will relieve us of the dust nuisance for a day or two at least.

Strawberry Festival.

Carrizo Springs will celebrate her third successful strawberry season with a big Strawberry Festival. Free barbecue, with strawberries and cream. Gov. Ferguson will speak.

A. & M. College men also. Band concerts, athletic events, cowboy races, fine program. Wedding parties especially invited. Free licenses will be furnished by county clerk W. N. Terry, Justice Cook will perform ceremony gratis. Everybody in the world invited.

Which Do You Prefer?

It is important for reasons of health and practical economy for every housekeeper to ask herself this question:

"Do I prefer a pure baking powder like Royal, made of cream of tartar derived from grapes, or am I willing to use a baking powder made of alum or phosphate, both derived from mineral sources?"

The names of the ingredients printed on the label show whether the kind you are now using or any brand, new or old, that may be offered is a genuine cream of tartar powder, or merely a phosphate or alum compound.

Royal Baking Powder contains no alum nor phosphate.
